The Elden Ring Games Team consists of highly experienced RPG veterans from the past, such as composer, Taro Maki (the director of the Touhou Project), and illustrator, Takeshi Miyazawa (NieR, Devil May Cry, Dissidia). They are joined by young developers who have shown great enthusiasm and ability to innovate, such as the game director, Kotaro Yamasaki, and the lead producer, Tsukasa Kuroda. Their driving ambition is to present an entirely original fantasy RPG experience for worldwide audiences, and their experiences in creating this genre-blurring RPG by working together lead them to creating a game with an unprecedented technical quality. ABOUT THE DESIGN TEAM Lead game director, Kotaro Yamasaki A long-time veteran of RPG development, Yamasaki has worked on the development of many RPG titles at Square Enix, including The Final Fantasy series, Bravely Default, and A Link Between Worlds. He made his debut with the development of NieR: Automata and has since been working at the Elden Ring Games Team as the game director. He is also the creator of the musical variety show, Real Drive. Lead producer, Tsukasa Kuroda A veteran of

Q: How to check if a mapping exists in Rust? I am trying to find a string beginning with a certain prefix, and if such mapping does not exist, I want a string beginning with another prefix. I am using the following code: let mut vflists: BTreeMap = BTreeMap::new(); vflists.insert("literal".to_string(), BTreeSet::new()); fn main() { let s: &str = "literalapi"; match vflists.get(&s) { Some((name: &str, sign: &BTreeSet)) => { println!("Name : {}", name); println!("Strings in {} : {}", sign, sign.len()); } None => println!("String {} not found", s), } } However, it always returns None, even if the whole name literalapi, not literal is in vflists. Am I doing this the right way, or is there a better way in Rust to do this? Also

Oh, dang. I forgot to remove my playtest comments... When I combine a hydrogren and a felinoid into a tank, the Felinoid deals massive bleed damage and is too dangerous to control for more than one turn at a time, so I have to kill the Felyne. I'm running fifteen felyne tanks, so the trading time is huge. I'm currently using a felyne equivalent to the Fel Crusade, so her die is replaced with something like "lucifelina-wrath" and she's called "wrathful". My Felyne Warcaster is using Genesis Burst, which lets her change out parts of her die to make new effects. One version lets her add three bleed damage to the one damage the "wrathful" die would otherwise deal. My felynes and felinies might get a shared pet tank after all, now that I can't summon the Felinine into my unit.Support group and individual psychotherapy for Type A coronary heart disease patients. This study assessed the effectiveness of two treatments in one patient: a pharmaco-behavioral support group and a regular cognitive-behavioral support group. The 83 patients were randomized to one of three groups: medication only, support group only, or medication and group. One medication group demonstrated a slight increase in behavioral compliance, but a nonsignificant increase in cessation of smoking. Cardiopulmonary tests decreased significantly over the year of the study only for the support group group. Questionnaires measuring reappraisal, tension reduction, and distress management techniques increased significantly in the support group group. In the doctor's rating of coronary occlusive risk, a nonsignificant trend favored the medication and support group group. A doctoral candidate's examination of the characteristics of patient compliance showed that the patients in the support group group were considerably less likely than the other patient groups to try to control the situation. The pharmacological treatment group and the support group group differed markedly in patterns of change over the year. Overall, the regression analyses were consistent with this conclusion., zoomed in 2x … i still don't like the characters, but the artwork here is very zen and peaceful. feels like a nice touch to hear the wind and listen for the birds … odd truth: there's way less city noise in rural towns because people don't use

Q: How to set PasswordPolicy when working with ServiceStack + Castle Windsor In ServiceStack's authentication example, the security settings are defined in the AppHost class. The AppHost looks like this: [Authenticate] public class AppHost : AppSelfHostBase { public AppHost() : base("name", typeof(Program).Assembly) { } public override void Configure(Container container) { container.Register(new OrderActions()); } } The OrderActions class looks like this: public class OrderActions : IDoAction { public object Execute(Order order) { ... // Some logic return new OrderCreatedResponse { Order = order }; } } Question: How can I set the password policy and timeout settings for this example? A: The documentation here shows how to configure passwords: You could also decorate your classes with the [AllowAnonymous] attribute to allow access to all users. On Monday, hundreds of thousands of Swedish protesters attended the funerals of two women, friends and classmates, killed in the Stockholm car bombing on April 7. The attack on the Drottninggatan shopping street was the largest act of terrorism in Sweden since the country was attacked by the Nazis in World War II, and it killed four people and injured 129 more. The homemade bomb detonated about 12:35 p.m. in the middle of the street as King Carl Gustaf of Sweden and Queen Silvia, who were celebrating their 54th wedding anniversary, were walking along the crowded pedestrian area. It resulted in the death of 22-year-old Ebba Akerlund and 23-year-old Ebba Åkesson. A third victim, Alice Weidinger, 18, died the following day. After the attacks, which authorities believe may have been the work of al Qaeda, the nation rallied around the royal couple. The crown prince
